

Docket No. 4175

Digitized by srujanika@gmail.com

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR MANAGING BLOOD PRODUCTS

Abstract of the Disclosure

A method and system for managing blood products and tracking their movement between a central blood test facility and a plurality of hospitals in which a database is provided for entering information pertaining to each patient, including but not limited to entering blood type information for a blood specimen from each patient, recording blood type for each blood product assigned to each patient and recording the results of remote cross-matching of each of the patient specimens and blood products to indicate their compatibility.